

HEAD TO TOE

Andrea & Jason Moattar

THE MOATTAR SIBLINGS GREW UP playing on the antique rugs in their parents' showroom, and today they helm ADAC's venerated Moattar Ltd. rug company, which last year outfitted the White House dining room. Their goods may be underfoot, but the Atlanta natives aren't so hard on the eyes, either.

ANDREA

JEWELRY My thing is accessories—I love to open my jewelry drawers at home. I never thought I'd be wearing gold ever again, but now I've fallen for it.

JEANS My goal is to be sixty, eighty and still wearing jeans. I love seeing older women who still know how to wear them.

BOOTS I love platforms, being only five-two. I thought these were kind of deco-looking, and brown is my favorite color.

JASON

HAIR I have really thick hair. It's a pain in the ass sometimes—it does not look the same any one day—but I'm blessed with being thirty-five and having no gray.

SOLIDS I'm pretty basic in terms of fashion. It's more important to me to have a nice, clean silhouette than all sorts of patterns and trends.

PANTS I typically like boot cut, even though I know the skinny is in. I have big feet for my height, so I don't like the way [skinny jeans] look on me.

In Search Of ... HOT PINK

It takes cojones to deck yourself out in this season's "it" color, but a well-chosen accessory can add pop without making you look radioactive. From left, local finds in fuchsia: HERMÈS silk tie, $180, Neiman Marcus, Lenox Square, 404-266-8200. AMERICAN APPAREL Hanover sunglasses, $50, multiple locations including 1133 Euclid Avenue, 404-880-8611. CASADEI wedges, $950, Jedal Italian Fashion, Phipps Plaza, 404-816-3024.
